

ULTIMATUM MAY BE ON WAY TO AUSTRIA BY NIGHT IS ROME BELIEF

DUAL MONARCHY IS EXPECTED TO PLAY FOR TIME

Asserted on Good Authority That Italian Plans Will Not Countenance Delay

AUSTRIAN SHIP REPORTED SEIZED

Air Full of Rumors of Border Fights and Departure of the Fleet

ROME, May 21.—An ultimatum may be on its way to Austria before night. The cabinet took a recess until late this afternoon, after holding a brief morning session. The senate met this afternoon to ratify the action of the chamber of deputies in approving the government's program. It was understood that the ministry would take decisive action immediately after the senate adjourned.

The German and Austrian ambassadors had not left Rome early this afternoon. At their embassies it was stated that neither Prince von Buelow nor Baron von Marchio foresees any diplomatic incident "likely to involve an immediate rupture." Attaches of both embassies expressed the hope that Italy will not begin hostilities without giving Austria a final opportunity to make fresh overtures.

Course Determined
No statement was forthcoming from the cabinet, when members left the government offices this afternoon. It was asserted on good authority, however, that Italy's course has been determined upon and that she is not to be swayed by Austria's attempts at dilatory tactics. The opinion prevails in military circles that Austria is not fully prepared and will play for time to complete her border defenses.

By a concerted agreement many shops in Rome this afternoon announced a holiday and closed their windows and shutters. Across their doors were placed placards reading: "Closed for national joy."

Streets Thronged
The streets were still thronged with enormous crowds today that snatched eagerly at newspaper extras and swarmed about the bulletin boards. The demonstrations, however, grew less noisy as the day wore on. The police reported practically no disturbances in the German and Austrian residential sections.

Cabinet Assembles Early
Armed with power to declare war immediately, the Italian cabinet was summoned into session at an unusually early hour today while the nation rested on a volcano of excitement.

Wild rumors that hostilities already have begun, that the Italian and Austrian forces have clashed along the border and that the Italian fleet has sailed with orders to engage the Austrian naval forces, kept Rome feverishly expectant throughout the night. Until daybreak today a crowd of 200,000, aflame with the war spirit, surged through the streets, bearing aloft the flags of Italy, France, England, Russia, Serbia, Montenegro and Japan.

Baron Sonnino, the foreign minister, was the first to arrive at the government offices. A few minutes later a big limousine bearing Premier Salandra and his secretary pressed through the crowd. Carabinieri formed a line through the great throng that closed in about the premier, shouting "Long Live Salandra!"

Before night the decision of the government may be known. One report was that it would be an ultimatum fixing a time limit of forty-eight hours in which Austria may give final answer to the Italian demands. Another forecast was that the government would declare war without further recourse to diplomacy. Military circles were expecting an order to begin hostilities within twenty-four hours.

Where is Fleet?
The whereabouts of the Italian fleet in the Adriatic is a deep mystery. Though great bodies of troops are known to have been massed along the Goritz frontier and along the border of Tyrol, the government has for weeks permitted no the slightest hint regarding the location of the naval forces to leak out.

A report telegraphed here from Venice that an Italian torpedo boat stopped the Austrian steamer Casulich when it tried to leave port last night, was passed by the censor, but is without official confirmation.

Held Interned German Ships
The captain of the Casulich was said to have been placed under arrest and a contraband cargo confiscated. It is known that torpedo boats

NAPLES, May 21.—The Italian authorities today seized a Greek steamer, carrying a cargo of 2,000 tons of rice bound for Germany.

VENICE, May 21.—Austria has begun internment all Italian males between the ages of seventeen and sixty. Fifty thousand Italians in the country around Barbariga, Dignaino and Marzana, in the Trieste region, were today placed aboard trains bound for concentration camps in Carniola and Croatia, according to advices received here. Leading Italians in Pola have been arrested and others terrorized by Austrian mobs.

ROME, May 21.—Premier Salandra today obtained a royal decree, suspending diplomatic immunity for the Austrian and German ambassadors to the vatican. Both ambassadors to the vatican will leave Rome tomorrow.

FREE BRIDGE AGAIN BEFORE ALDERMEN BECAUSE OF JOKER

Councilmen Discover City's New Ordinance Adopts Improvement Policy on Highway

THEY HASTEN TO RETRENCH

Long Tract of Roadway with Three Bridges to Revert Back to Minnesota

When the city council convenes in special session tonight the free bridge ordinance, which for four years has been before the aldermen, and has been the subject for two referendum elections will again be reconsidered. It was passed by the city council at the last meeting a week ago, had been signed by the council and had been enacted into law, subject to its taking effect on September 1.

Improvements to it now will come in the form of an amendment to prevent the city of La Crosse being responsible for the maintenance of the three bridges and highway on the La Crescent roadway.

It was learned by the aldermen, advised by City Engineer Bradish, that money for reconstruction of these bridges would be needed almost at once if the ordinance as adopted, remains in force. Now it will be so altered that instead of La Crosse county taking over all of the roadway as far as the west approach to the last bridge, that part will be turned back to Minnesota, which lies beyond the west gateway to Pettibone park.

Alderman Smith's ordinance, passed at the last meeting, is satisfactory to the Minnesota authorities, it was said today, and the council will be informed tonight that the two-year clause, making the bridge free, under the restriction that Minnesota maintains the highway will be taken favorably even though the proposed amendments are passed.

A long list of special street improvements and alley openings, deferred from the previous meeting will occupy the council tonight. Included in the batch is a proposal for widening the pavement in Rose street two feet, to make allowance for increased traffic when the new Rose street viaduct is taken into use.

That the amount of money that can be saved La Crosse factory employers and employees in a few years through the efforts of "Safety First" organization will compensate all efforts of the city in aiding, will be the argument offered by L. Silberschmidt, chairman of the La Crosse Safety Roundtable association.

Silberschmidt and a committee of the organization has asked permission to address the council and will ask that the city allow the use of the council chamber for "safety" meetings.

Permission to use the council room was re-referred to a committee at the last meeting.

Secretary Storkerson of the association, points out that over $2,000,000 was paid out in compensation and medical fees in Wisconsin last year. Seventy-five per cent of the 429 deaths occurring from accidents to workmen, he will point out, could have been prevented.

AUGUST LEHNOFF DIES SUDDENLY IN MILWAUKEE TODAY

Former La Crosse Man Dies in His Home from Heart Ailment Though Apparently Well

PROMINENT IN LA CROSSE POLITICS

Made Factory Inspector Here and Was Three Times a Candidate for County Sheriff

August Lehnoff, Milwaukee, a state factory inspector, formerly a resident of La Crosse and for years prominent in the politics of La Crosse county, dropped dead of heart failure in his home, 168 Thirty-ninth street, Milwaukee, yesterday.

Mr. Lehnoff had spent the previous evening at the club rooms of the Western Skat club, and seemed in good health and spirits.

August Lehnoff was a cigar maker, and for years was in the employ of the P. & W. Cigar factory. He resided at 819 Grove street for a time, but later removed to 528 North Eleventh street. It was there, in the Eleventh ward, that he became interested in the La Follette movement, then in its infancy.

As one of the pioneers of the La Follette organization, Lehnoff made himself felt by his strong partisanship and constant activity. He aspired to become sheriff, but although three times a candidate, he failed to win the republican nomination.

In 1913 he was made a state deputy factory inspector, and has held that position ever since. Some eight years ago he removed to Milwaukee to facilitate his work, but he has been a frequent visitor in La Crosse.

INTERNEED HERE, THIS GERMAN SALT WASHES DISHES

Henry Berger of Berlin Works in Restaurant to Get Money to Join Relatives

Henry Berger, a native of Berlin, Germany, and one of the sailors of the interned German cruiser, "Prinz Eitel Friedrich" has been washing dishes at the Banner Dairy for a week.

Unable to speak intelligent English, and without funds, Berger was "up against it." He made enough money to go to relatives in St. Paul and left this morning for that city. The "Prinz Eitel Friedrich" was interned recently at Norfolk, Va., when its captain found it impossible to escape the English blockade, established beyond the three mile limit of the shores of the United States.

According to Berger, each sailor was allowed transportation to any place in the United States, where he must remain until the war is over and the vessel is released by the United States. He asked to come to La Crosse. A relative of his formerly lived in this city.

Upon arriving no trace of the relative could be found, and Berger faced difficulties. Anton J. Berger, janitor of the Linker Barber shop found him wandering about the streets and found him work at the restaurant.

Berger must report regularly to his officers on the German vessel at Norfolk, who almost must stay in this country until the close of the war.

WARMER WEATHER TO FOLLOW RAINS SAYS OBSERVER

Heavy rains of the preceding twenty-four hours in La Crosse again saved fruit and vegetable crops from frost. Relief from the cool weather is promised by the local weather bureau.

One and three-quarter inches of rain fell in this vicinity since Wednesday night, and La Crosse is today the center of a large storm territory extending west to the pacific coast and for a considerable distance to the south.

Showers tonight with slightly lower temperatures, and a decided rise in temperature tomorrow with clear skies is the prediction today.

APPEAL FOR LEO FRANK

Petitions for the commutation of the death sentence of Leo Frank are in circulation in La Crosse today and are being signed by hundreds of people. Anyone desiring to sign the petition may do so at the TRIBUNE office.

PEORIANS PLEASED WITH TREATMENT THEY WERE GIVEN

Mayor Bentley Is Recipient Today of Splendid Note of Appreciation from the Boosters

MUTUAL BENEFITS ARE HINTED

Now They Say "Return the Visit" Either Singly or by the Hundred

Three hundred Peorians wish La Crosse well and are thankful for the hospitality extended the visiting boosters by the city of La Crosse.

They say so in a note of appreciation which was received by Mayor A. A. Bentley and Secretary Van Auker of the board of trade today. The text of the note follows:

"On Board Peoria Publicity Fellowship Excursion Special, Office of President-Secretary.

Mayor A. A. Bentley and Mr. C. S. Van Auker, secretary La Crosse Board of Trade, La Crosse Wis.

"Dear Sirs: The Peoria, Ill., delegation aboard the publicity-fellowship excursion train, though several hours out of your beautiful city, are still talking of your cordial reception and splendid entertainment received while within your gates. In behalf of the Peoria Association of Commerce, numbering upwards of twenty-two hundred business and professional men of Peoria, manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers, jobbers, professional men and others, we are very appreciative of the splendid courtesy of La Crosse. We want you all to understand that the latch string of Peoria is out and that our doors swing in and that we will always be glad to welcome your business men whether they come singly or by the hundred.

"The idea of the publicity-fellowship trip to the northwest has a two-fold object—that our business men might get better acquainted enroute and secondly that we might get better acquainted with the business men of our sister cities. Of course we are anxious to proclaim Peoria as a city of real merit—a good place in which to live. We are not thinking of trade expansion or a direct benefit from this trip. Peoria has faith to believe that our visitation will be mutually beneficial. The splendid entertainment we received in your city is greatly appreciated and we cannot say enough about it and most respectfully urge that you come and see us.

"Again assuring you of our appreciation and with best wishes, we are,

"Very sincerely,

"PEORIA ASSOCIATION OF COMMERCE.

"W. G. CAUSEY, President.

"WILLIS EVANS, Secretary."

Bentley Thanks Theater

Mayor A. A. Bentley desires to thank H. G. Wohlhuter, manager of the La Crosse theater for its free use, donated when it became necessary to find other quarters than Riverside park.

VERDICT FOR T. R. REFUSED BY COURT

Jury Sent Back to Put Findings in Legal Form After Mix-up This Morning

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 21.—An unparalleled court court mix-up resulted today in an illegal verdict being returned in favor of Theodore Roosevelt in William Barnes' $50,000 libel suit against the former president.

The jury filed into the courtroom at 11 o'clock. The foreman reported that a unanimous verdict had been reached in favor of Roosevelt but that the jury wanted the expense of the trial divided.

The court clerk then called the roll. One jurymen—Edward Burns—a democrat—voted against the former president. The other eleven voted for him. Justice Andrews ruled then that the request of the jury that the expense be divided and the division in the vote made the verdict illegal. He sent the twelve men back to deliberate further.

TYPHUS CONDITIONS IN SERBIA REPEAT HORROR OF MEDIAEVAL PLAGUES

BY HENRY WOOD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NISH, Serbia, May 2.—(By Mail to New York.)—Valievo is the black hole of the terrible typhus plague ravaging Serbia. There were 8,000 men, women and children in the town when the epidemic began sweeping out whole families. The victims are dying like flies—so rapidly that the town authorities have lost count. At least four thousand of those still surviving are stricken with the disease and are battling for their lives.

Dr. B. MacCookingham, of Red Hook, Dutchess county, N. Y., pictured conditions in the Serbian typhus center to me today. He had just arrived from Valievo where he spent four months fighting the plague.

"The only way you can get an idea of the terrible conditions at the town is by reading accounts of some of the great plagues of the middle ages," he said.

Dr. MacCookingham himself was stricken with typhus, in two of its worst forms, the "recurrens" and the "exanthematicus."

Dr. Albert B. Cooke, former police surgeon of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Dr. MacCookingham's only English-speaking companion in the "Black Hole" of Valievo, died of it.

Dead Dumped by Wagon Load
"During the first few months they made some effort to give the victims a decent burial," said Dr. MacCookingham. "That was when the deaths were running only fifty to seventy-five a day."

"Later, when deaths reached 150 a day and when a large part of the population was down with the fever, that was out of the question. They simply stacked the bodies together like logs and hauled them away."

"The dead wagon made its rounds as often as possible. Bodies were just tossed in and the grim callers passed on to the next house. When the wagon was full it started for the outskirts of the town. I have seen it pass through the streets with a head or two hanging out behind and arms and legs extended over the sides. The bodies were dumped into holes outside the city limits and the whole mess hastily covered with earth. Then the wagon and the o-

NEW BATTLE STARTS NEAR YPRES

Ebb and Flow of Battle Sees Both Sides Make Slight Gains Paris Declares

PETROGRAD, May 21.—Three hundred thousand troops are locked in a great battle north of Jaroslavl to decide the fate of the fortress of Przemyśl, won by the Russians after the most noted siege of the war.

In the face of terrific artillery fire, the Austro-German left wing has thrown a small body of troops across the river Lubaczovka, north of Jaroslavl. The crossing was forced near Radava, with enormous Russian counter attacks have hurled the enemy back to the bank of the river.

Official dispatches say the artillery fighting is the most violent since the enemy's drive on Przemyśl began. The Germans swept the plain south of Sienlawa, with a continuous fire that forced the Russians to retire to the south bank of the Lubaczovka.

General Mackensen has almost ceased his attacks on the forts west of Przemyśl. Apparently he is awaiting the outcome of his enveloping movement on the east bank of the San.

New Battle in Flanders
PARIS, May 21.—The great battle around Ypres and Arras, halted by a three days' rain storm, has been renewed with desperate fighting along the Yser canal.

The Germans braved a steady machine gun fire and drove the allied troops out of their advanced trenches north of Ypres. The war office admitted this temporary setback in an official statement this afternoon, but declared the allies counter-attacked and drove the enemy out of the captured ground. Toward night the allies took the offensive in the same region and won new ground.

The British have resumed their forward movement toward Lille. In a hot engagement near Neuve Chapelle they advanced slightly in the direction of Aubers.

German Report Victory
BERLIN, via Wireless to London, May 21.—Severe attacks by the English south of Neuve Chapelle and by the French in the Ailly Woods broke down under hot German artillery fire, the war office announced this afternoon. The fighting from Ypres to Arras has been resumed on a larger scale.

In the eastern theater of war the Russians continue to retreat upon Przemyśl. It is officially announced that Russian prisoners taken by General Mackensen since May 1, now total 140,000.

GERMAN ANSWER AWAITS REVIEW BY THE KAISER

Note Practically Completed in Shape of Refusal to Stop Submarine Warfare

HARMONY DEPENDS UPON RULER

Believed That Belligerency Will Be Taken Out of Answer at Kaiser's Order

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Secretary Bryan said today he had received confirmation from Ambassador Page, London that the British government was taking action to settle, immediately and satisfactorily to owners, all controversies concerning American cotton shipments held up at British ports. Only details relative to proof of ownership and contract prices remained to be disposed of.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Proof that the kaiser personally will have the final word in deciding Germany's reply to the Wilson protest against submarine warfare reached here today in the report from Berlin by Ambassador Gerard that the note was practically complete, but is held up awaiting the ruler's return to the capital.

This confirmed American officials' belief that if harmonious relations between the two countries are to continue the kaiser himself will have to preserve them. Unofficial reports tell of growing bitterness against America in the German newspapers and among officials generally.

The Berlin foreign office has prepared a reply, according to the best information obtainable, recommending Americans' right to protection but, in effect, declaring the kaiser's submarine warfare against belligerent merchantmen, Germany's business and hers alone.

It is already certain that Germany will not take the responsibility of breaking off negotiations with this government by a belligerent reply. The tone is to be polite and conciliatory, according to the United Press correspondent in Berlin and all information reaching here sustains this expectation. Even though the present draft were approved—and officials are hopeful that it will not be—it would be hard for the United States to frame an ultimatum on it, according to the facts so far known.

The British announcement that the admiralty is expediting the hearings in the cases of detained American cargoes, was admittedly made to stave off another note from the United States. It was said it will not serve its purpose, however, although. The president expects to let the British matter rest until the German reply is received.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Baby Lamb
And the Joyous Springtime.

ONCE upon a time there was a baby lamb that the stork brought in the joyous springtime, daddy told Jack and Evelyn, anxious for the evening story.

"This little lamb was all fleecy and downy and cunning, and it had the funniest 'ba-a' you ever heard, which sounded like its mother's, only not nearly so loud and higher and shriller, just as a little baby's voice reminds you of its mother's a little."

"It had the cutest white, woolly, steazy, bunchy wool, and its eyes were round and dark, and its face was awfully foolish looking, something like a baby camel's, but without the sneering expression, and it had four teetery tottery legs upon which it ramblod around in a sort of aimless way with its dear mother, Mrs. Ewe."

"Its father, Mr. Ram, didn't pay much attention to Baby Lamb that was born in the joyous springtime and wandered on the green hills with its mother, Mrs. Ewe. Indeed, no; Mr. Ram was a very important old gentleman with big curved horns, and he was cross, too, and would chase little children who came into his field."

"But Baby Lamb didn't pay any more attention to his father than Mr. Ram paid to him. Baby Lamb was content to ramble about the green hills with Mother Ewe, and he had a lovely time."

"He loved the joyous springtime so! He loved the green of the grass and the leaves of the trees and the shadows, so cool and dark, that stretched from away out under the trees. And he loved the cool breezes that blew on the hilltop."

"And he was so happy, was Baby Lamb, that he 'ba-a-a-d' just as loud as he could 'ba-a-a', and he leaped into the air with all his four legs bunched stiff, the way little lambs do, and you should have heard the children laugh! Children have always laughed at little lambs' gambolings ever since the lamb followed Mary to school one day, which was against the rule, you remember, and made the children laugh and play. Oh, he was a happy little lamb with Mother Ewe up on the green hilltop in the joyous springtime!"

"After awhile what do you suppose happened? Why, up in his forehead two little bumps appeared. They bothered the little lamb a good deal. Maybe it was something like cutting teeth. But they grew and grew anyhow, and now he has been a cross Mr. Ram for some time. And if you see him you had better keep out of his field."

"Good night, now, kiddies. Run along to beddie."

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

MARY ELLEN'S MAN

BY HOPE AINSLEE

(Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Mary Ellen did not know that the place she was entering was a pawnshop. It was tucked away in a quiet thoroughfare off Regent street and Mary Ellen just happened to be strolling through the quaint Soho district when an antique locket in the window caught her attention.

She bought the oddly beautiful locket and was persuaded to purchase, also, an equally curious old ring that the shopkeeper had in his possession.

Mary Ellen was a shy, imaginative little person, whose world was peopled by fanciful characters. She was extraordinarily happy in her quiet way, and the vague, mysterious look that so often took possession of her eyes made her interesting to those who knew her. For Mary Ellen was not queer; she was merely different enough from the average girl to be mysterious.

Back in New York there were several suitors who wanted Mary Ellen's dainty hand for their own. It was partly owing to the persistent wooing of these admirers that Mary Ellen found herself in London. She had fled from the temptation to marry when she was not really as much in love as her fancy told her she should be. And her dream man possessed all the qualities that existed, respectively, in each of her suitors.

She held her new locket closely in her hand as she found her way out of Soho. Where had it come from and whose had it been, she wondered. When she arrived at her lodgings—Mary Ellen lived in genteel lodgings while she was in London—

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Thickness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of musing.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur no one can tell, because it does so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

she discovered that the locket opened and that, looking straight into her eyes as she viewed him, was the miniature of a handsome young man.

Mary Ellen looked long at the face. She began to wish that she had lived in the age when he had lived—in the age of powder and patches. How becoming were his wig and patches! How blue were his eyes! She began to weave romance about the picture in her locket.

An idea thrust itself into her dreams. She would return to America as the betrothed wife of the man in the locket. This would be a fitting way for her to avoid marrying any one of her suitors. She had long sought an excuse that would satisfy them. Her fictitious lover would be the excuse. And the antique ring would lend color to her story.

Few girls but Mary Ellen would have conceived so fanciful a plan of clearing her path of lovers. "And his name is 'Davie,'" she said to herself when she had discovered an engraving inscription inside the locket: "With love, Davie," the line ran.

"I shall call my fiancé David Woodman, and say that he is an actor. My miniature of him was made in the character of Sir Charles Surface," Mary Ellen laughed at her own ingenuity. Indeed, so delighted was she with her fabric of romance that she sailed for home a week sooner than she had expected.

When she was once more in the midst of her home circle of friends she said little, but she wore the old ring on her engagement finger and blushed genuinely if guiltily—when questioned about it.

"This is Davie," she admitted shyly, as she opened her antique locket for inspection.

"But fancy a shy little mouse like you marrying a matinee idol," Jane Grey exclaimed. "You will be torn by jealousy all the time. I would almost as soon marry an artist and worry over his models as to sit at home every night while my husband was being adored by an audience of women."

"You don't know my Davie," was all Mary Ellen would ever say.

"You're certainly picked a good locket!" Jimmy Vale commented. "No wonder none of us could qualify if your ideal embodied a face like that. It takes the pretty boys to win you girls." Jimmy had a complement of good looks himself, but he sighed hopelessly. He was one of those who loved Mary Ellen.

The romance woven around the man in the locket came to be acknowledged as a natural one. Mary Ellen had gone abroad and she had met her fate.

Herself, she found that the men who still surrounded her came less near her ideal than ever. She was beginning really to feel that the face in the locket was the face of the man she would like to marry.

One night Jimmy Vale stood in the ballroom of the Derwent home looking at Mary Ellen as she danced with one of the men. She was as light as a zephyr, and even had Jimmy not been possessed of a hopeless love for the girl he would have enjoyed the grace of her.

Some one touched his arm. "That slim, quaint, beautiful little dancer in mauve—who is she?" David Garland asked him.

Jimmy turned to look at the man. He was the guest of the hostess, and they had merely shaken hands in being introduced. "Mary Ellen Moore?" he answered, counterquestioning.

"Sounds as if it might fit her; she dances like a breeze that might have been tossed over the moors of my own country," said David.

Jimmy looked at him again in astonishment. "I say, Garland, have I ever met you before?"

"This is my first trip to America," he was still watching Mary Ellen.

"And what about Mary Ellen Moore?" he asked.

Jimmy laughed. "You, too?" he queried, half to himself. "Mary Ellen is the sort of girl we all sit by our hearth and long for. She's the sort

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at first sign of Bladder irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our food is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time. Chas. A. Benschlag, Druggist, 503 Main St.

we'd like to take home with us to have her tell us her dreamy fairy tale nonsense to drive away the dull cares of reality. That's Mary Ellen. But—he placed a hand on Garland's arm—"don't get interested. She's engaged to a fellow in London."

"I'd like to know her, anyway," Garland said earnestly.

"I'll present you—with pleasure," Jimmy hastened to say.

When Mary Ellen looked into the blue eyes of David Garland she would have turned and fled had not Jimmy restrained her. "Wait a minute, Mary Ellen. I want to present Mr. David Garland, Miss Moore," Jimmy added, with his best society bow. Then, without another word he left them.

David was so like the man in Mary Ellen's locket that the girl was stricken with amazement. She could scarcely raise her eyes to his scrutinizing gaze.

"There are two reasons for my wanting to meet you," she heard him saying. "One is—that locket," he said, looking at her treasure.

"I bought it in London," Mary Ellen confessed, blushing, and taking the locket in her hand. "And this ring I bought at the same time," she admitted, extending the ring for him to see.

Her heart beat fast; her dream was coming true. This man and the man whose face was pictured in her locket were in some way connected.

"I say, this is most curious," David was saying, half to himself, as he examined the ring on Mary Ellen's finger. He looked up at her. "Do you know that you are wearing my grandmother's engagement ring?"

Mary Ellen shook her head; she could not speak.

"And I believe there is a miniature of myself in that locket," David added.

"Are—are you Davie?" Mary Ellen asked, breathlessly.

"I'm Davie," he laughed.

He then explained that his Grandmother Garland was so "keen on him" that she had had his miniature painted and set in a locket. She had had it done in powder and patch costume because, in that dress, he was more like his grandfather than ever and it had pleased the elderly woman to see him thus. The locket and the ring had been stolen by a maid and had evidently been sold.

Mary Ellen looked up in startled amazement. "Do you suppose it was a pawnshop that I bought them in—in Soho?" she asked.

David laughed. "Bless that pawn broker!" he said. "And this hesitation? Do you hesitate to dance with—Davie?" he asked.

Mary Ellen did not hesitate.

HOLD MEMORIAL FOR AMERICANS LOST ON LUSITANIA

CHICAGO, May 21.—Friends and relatives of the victims of the Lusitania, sent to the bottom by a German submarine, will hold memorial services for victims of the disaster on Saturday at the Fourth Presbyterian church. The services were originally planned by friends and relatives of Herbert Stuart Stone, son of the general manager of the Associated Press. Saturday would have been young Stone's birthday.

It is always either a picnic or a panic in this country, which is a nation with an artistic temperament.

How to Avoid Wearing Ugly False Teeth

It's positively distressing the way some folks allow their teeth to gradually fade away—become broken, elongated, twisted, protruding. It makes people backward, often morbid. Most tooth affection comes from microbes. These tiny, unseen organisms bore into the hard enamel under the shelter of brown or pale yellow spots. Grit and tartar get between the enamel and the gums causing bleeding, sore, sensitive teeth. Then come loosened teeth, gum boils, gum separation. Your tongue easily rocks the teeth.

You can avoid the necessity to pull out your teeth, or fill them with figuring gold or porcelain, if you will get from your druggist about four ounces of fluid organ, merely putting a teaspoonful in your mouth morning, noon and night, throwing it out after a minute or so. The microbes in the nooks and crannies are washed out, destroyed; the hard substances foreign to the teeth are dissolved, gums will be clean and rosy, mouth dentally clean, loose teeth harden in the gums—try them with your fingers—and your own white of the teeth appears when the yellow spots are washed away. The disease disappears.

IT LIMPS, JOHNNY

In yesterday's issue the TRIBUNE printed a resume of the prepared statement submitted to the Federal Industrial Relations commission by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., when he was recalled before that body to clear up questions aroused in the minds of the commissioners by the discovery of correspondence which Chairman Walsh declared showed that young Rockefeller, contrary to his testimony at the New York hearing concerning the Colorado mine strike, personally directed the operators' campaign against the union.

Rockefeller's statement, in the main, is a categorical denial of the conclusions of Walsh. The authenticity of the correspondence upon which Walsh based his accusation is not questioned. To his unsupported denial of the chairman's charges, Rockefeller adds explanation in but one case. He undertakes to prove that he did not, as Walsh alleged, attempt to dictate a letter to Governor Ammons of Colorado, which the latter was to send to President Wilson and governors of other states, explaining the strike situation.

Rockefeller's explanation is that he never met Governor Ammons' adjutant Major E. J. Boughton. He goes on to say that Boughton discussed the matter with Ivy J. Lee, publicity agent for the Rockefeller interests; that Lee suggested Ammons send a letter to the president and the governors; and that Lee accepted from Boughton a memorandum of his views to draw them up into form for submission to the governor. That he sent Lee a memorandum of his own views on the situation to eke out those of Major Boughton, Mr. Rockefeller also admitted.

In this connection the letter with which Rockefeller sent the memo-random to Lee is eloquent. As made public by Chairman Walsh it said: "Several points in my memorandum, however, could well, even more appropriately, be used as the major's memorandum.

In the interests of Mr. Rockefeller's cause, it is regrettable that he singled out this one of Walsh charges for explanatory refutation. If one is to argue from his choice that he picked the incident susceptible of hearing the best face for public consideration, one must feel a sympathetic tremor for his embarrassment should he ever be required to furnish explanation of the rest of the correspondence upon which Walsh based his charges. For his explanation of this amazing incident of the press agent and the major is not finally convincing. It leaves too many questions unanswered.

Why, for instance, did Governor Ammons' representative travel to New York to have his views on the strike situation put in shape for presentation to the governor, who was in Denver? And why did he take the matter up with Rockefeller's press agent? And if Rockefeller had no finger in the pie, why did he send Lee that memorandum which could "well, even more appropriately, be used?"

THE LIFE OF GEORGE B. ROSE

When the span of a man's life has reached four score and five years, his passing is usually accompanied by a feeling that even though parting be sad, the last chapter of a complete book is finished. The timely, the inevitable is accepted without question.

But, somehow, one cannot feel these things about George B. Rose. Eighty-five years left him a man in the mental ripeness of sixty, bodily able, clear of vision and alive with the joy of youthfulness. What a wonderful man he was! How alert, and with what rich, kindly humor!

It was a pleasure to drop into the Rose store and meet Mr. Rose among his young people. There was a family atmosphere about the place, the setting of which seemed a family trait in its refinement and genuineness. Mr. Rose was full of the day's news and comment, but he always concluded the moment of chatter and repartee with a matured opinion that betokened an active and poised mind.

The secret of Mr. Rose's youth was that he "never troubled trouble." No matter what the storm, he never looked for the clouds. He sought the sunshine; he found it everywhere and always he radiated it. Care, strife, covetousness—the things that wear and age—he did not know. There were no weeds of temper or discontent in his garden of happiness. Humor, friendship, affection, peace—the food of youth were his, and kept his spirits young.

And so, at five and eighty years, he was a boy at heart, and had that been the Divine Will he might have spared other years of his sweet influence upon the life about him. But who shall criticize the wisdom of Him whose hand plucked this lovable personality from our midst, rescued from the lingering moments of decay and pain in which so many grope their way through the falling darkness? Perhaps this peaceful end was Heaven's reward for a life that cheered and brightened other lives, that never knew a sordid thought, and never caused a pang.

ENGLISH SPARROWS IN CAPITOL

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The District of Columbia wishes to reduce the English sparrow population. Dr. A. K. Fisher, of the Biological Survey was asked how and he suggested three ways: strychnine, funnel traps and Roman candles. Of the three, Dr. Fisher most strongly recommended the candles. A volley through the trees in which the birds are roosting will rid any neighborhood of the pest, he says.

"Whys" of Moves in European War

The On-March
The world is marching onward by the battle-conquered way To the Land of Hope that's waiting in the Everlasting Day. And no matter how it suffers as it struggles to the Dawn, Still it keeps the endless journey and it's always moving on! From the darkness of the shadow to the glory of the dawn, By the ways of want and weakness It is always moving on!

The world is marching onward to the thunders of the drums As they echo out the music of the far millenniums, And across the broken trenches where a nation is the pawn, Still it keeps the steady journey and is always moving on! What though long the cannons thunder Where the nations are in pawn? To the land of peace and plenty Still the world is moving on!

The world is marching onward by the ways of land and sea, And the triumphs of its coming shout angelic minstrelsy; By the barrens, through the valleys, whoso'er the people spawn, Still it keeps the steady journey, and the world is moving on! What though mighty clansmen perish? Still the fecund genders spawn; And across the graves of nations Still the world is moving on!

The world is moving onward! Every night the stars above, Nearer draw to lift the shadows with the holy hands of love. Hour by hour the visions falter up the slopes where faith has gone And across the waiting chasms still the world is moving on! Still God's finger gives the lesson As faith's golden heart has gone, And undaunted to the summits Still the world is moving on! —Freeman E. Miller in Oklahoma.

Immortalized by a Charge
In a western town the attorney for the gas company was making a popular address.

"Think of the good the gas company has done," he cried. "If I were permitted a gun, I would say, in the words of the immortal poet, 'Honor the Light Brigade!'"

Whereupon a shrill voice came from the rear. "Oh, what a charge they made!"

do not know anything more, practically, about what electricity is than we did then. "What is electricity?" once asked a professor of his class.

Several hands were held up. "Well Mr. Brown, you can tell us what electricity is." Mr. Brown hesitated and then explained, "I knew once, but just at this moment I have forgotten."

"What a pity that the only man in the world who ever knew what electricity is should have forgotten!" mused the professor.

Thoroughly Cured
They were discussing in the workshop the question of corporal punishment. "I believe in the old maxim," said the foreman, "Spare the rod and spoil the child." When I was a boy I knew I received many chastisements and whackings and it did me good. On one occasion, I remember, I was punished for telling the truth.

"I cried you," whispered a voice from the corner. "Piece and Peace" It was Saturday night and the rival butchers were shouting against each other. "Here's a piece of beef," shouted one, "any price yer like. No war prices here."

The other was equal to the occasion. "Come ere," he shouted. "Don't aye piece at any price, have piece with honor."

Patience Not Thing Lacking
"What? Giving up already, my boy?" said a gentleman to a youthful angler. "You must bring a little more patience with you another time."

"I brought enough patience, mister, but I didn't bring enough worms."

BROOKLYN'S BIG PAGEANT

NEW YORK, May 21.—The twenty-third regiment armory, at Bedford avenue and Pacific street, will be the scene tonight of a giant indoor pageant of early American history. The principal guests will be school children from the public and high schools. The purpose of the pageant is to keep fresh in the minds of the younger generation the great events of this country's early history.

There ain't much use in tying $5,000 up in a car when a feller can accomplish the same purpose in a jitney bus for five cents.

A Second "Under Two Flags" THE RED MIRAGE

The sentries repeated the order, and in the brief interval that followed the six men relaxed into their former attitude of languid indifference. The two younger officers exchanged whispered comments, and one of them laughed. Colonel Destinn lifted his head as though the sound jarred on him. But he did not look at them, and they were silent. The little major fidgeted restlessly. He wished to appear at ease, but the man with the hawk's face and hard clear eyes, in which there was no trace of any human feeling, frightened him. His Latin imagination conjured up the vast wilderness and seven hundred dead and a hundred living, to whom there has been shown no mercy or pity. He conjured up long years in which the lives of men had been mile-stones, marking a conquest, a kilometer more of the great road, a revolt crushed by an iron hand. And the man beside him towered to something superhuman and inhuman—a ruthless force, molding circumstances to its will, not counting the cost, but following its own end over unmarked, forgotten graves. And now one more life was to pay the price of victory. The major shuddered and glanced uneasy at his neighbor. Captain Arnaud had ceased writing. There was nothing readable on the scrap of paper before him, and now the pencil dropped from his limp fingers. Outside in the courtyard there sounded the regular tramp of feet and a curt command, and slowly Arnaud drew himself up and faced the door, with a light dawning in his dead eyes as of attentive waiting for something inevitable and long expected. The door opened and a sergeant entered, followed by two corporals and a man whose hands and feet were chained. There was a short silence. The sergeant made an authoritative gesture, and the man was thrust forward and the door closed again, shutting out the brief glimpse of sunlight.

"The prisoner's number?" "The sergeant drew out a bulky document from between the buttons of his tunic. "No. 4995, called Richard Nameless, of the First Regiment, the Eleventh Company."

"The accusation?" "Conspiracy and mutiny in the field."

"Any previous record?" "No, my Colonel, but marked as a dangerous character."

"Very well, Sergeant. You can stand back."

The man saluted and retired a few paces, leaving his prisoner alone, facing the table. Colonel Destinn looked up. As their eyes met, the prisoner bowed, gravely, without bravado, with an instinctive courtesy which became him strangely well. Neither the torn uniform caked with dirt and sand nor the rough black beard which hid the lower part of the bronzed gaunt face could detract from his graceful unconsciousness or render incongruous or insolent the formal little salutation. He glanced round, the extraordinary blue eyes under the black brows passing from face to face, with almost smiling recognition. The major stared uncomfortably down at the table, and his glance happening to fall on Colonel Destinn's outstretched hands, he perceived with a dull wonder that they were clenched, and that the knuckles stood out white and polished as marble.

"Ma foi, the man can feel!" was his mental ejaculation. But as Colonel Destinn turned to him the momentary impression was rubbed out like a child's drawing from a slate. There was no trace of emotion on the implacable features, and his voice sounded formal and indifferent.

"In the ordinary course of events this case would go to the court at Oran," he said. "But we are passing through troubled times. Another rising is threatening, and I have received instructions from General Meunier to deal with all such offenses summarily and with extreme vigor. There have been signs of unrest in the league. General Meunier demands that an example should be made."

The major nodded. "It's essential to discipline," he announced vaguely. "Legionary, you are charged on your own confession. Do you still insist that you were the sole instigator and leader of the mutiny?" "Yes, my Colonel." "You accuse no one?" "No one." "Remember — your punishment would be lightened." "There is no one I can accuse, my Colonel." "You have no statement to make, no explanation to offer?" "None." Colonel Destinn leaned forward on his elbow. And suddenly it seemed to the man beside him that he had ceased to interrogate—that he was pleading with a smothered passionate energy. "You have no reason to offer why you headed that outbreak—no excuse? Consider a little—if the leadership had been forced upon you—if you had accepted it to prevent worse—"

"Colonel Destinn, I have your word of honor!"

The interruption had been in English. It was a sudden climax—a brilliant touch of color in the somber scheme of obscured emotions. Colonel Destinn did not answer. He sank back, and there was moisture on the white powerful forehead.

"Captain Arnaud, you were with me. You were the sole survivor of my staff. Have you anything to say for this man?"

There was a brief silence. It seemed as though Arnaud had not heard. He was still staring in front of him, and a full minute passed before he lifted his eyes slowly, reluctantly to Destinn's face. "I?" And then suddenly he half arose, his hands gripping the edge of the table. "I—I—have—"

He stopped. His blank gaze had passed on. It rested on the prisoner's gaunt untroubled features and lit up with a flame of awakened recollection. He relapsed. "No, I have nothing to say," he said slowly and distinctly.

It seemed that the heat became denser, more stifling. There was no sound but the soft maddening buzz of the flies in the circle of sunshine. Colonel Destinn drew himself up stiffly.

"Then I have no option but to pass the highest sentence on you, Legionary," he said. "There is only one mitigation which lies in my power. I know that you are a brave man—you shall die as one. You will be shot—unbound—at daybreak—by your comrades."

"I thank you, Colonel Destinn." The major looked up slyly. Throughout he had been conscious of something unseen passing between these two men; he saw now that they gazed at each other unflinchingly with that intensity which seeks below the surface for the inexplicable. The sergeant came forward and touched the condemned man on the shoulder. He turned at once with a little whimsical shrug of apology.

LAD IS FOUND ON HIGH TRESTLE

Three Year Old Walter Danielson Rescued by Switchman Just Before Train Passes

Three-year-old Walter Danielson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Danielson, 1425 Prospect street, this morning was saved from probable death when he was discovered on the Burlington viaduct over the Milwaukee tracks
by Mr. Weber, Milwaukee switchman, but a few minutes before the southbound Burlington train passed over the bridge. Weber took the boy to No. 2 police station, where he was later found by his mother.

The boy strayed from his home about 9:30 and was not missed for some time. He wandered along the Burlington track, which runs near his home, and started to cross the viaduct. Midway over he became frightened, his screams reaching the ears of switchmen in the yards of the Milwaukee.

THE USE OF SOAP SPOILS THE HAIR

Soap should be used very sparingly, if at all, if you want to keep your hair looking its best.
Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali.
This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified coconut oil (which is pure and grease-less), is cheaper and better than soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp
soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified coconut oil at any pharmacy, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

SCHOOLS OBSERVE MEMORIAL DAY

Every one of the six schools of the north side will hold Memorial day exercises next Friday afternoon.

At the Logan and Franklin schools as well as at the Jefferson school, each room will have its own program, each to be given for the benefit of the members of the re-

General programs will be held at St. James and St. John's parish schools on the same afternoon, the exercises in each case to begin at 2:30.

The pupils of Immanuel church will give a program at the church on Sunday, as is the custom of the school, the pupils uniting with the Sunday school.

WILSON PLEASED WITH THE FLEET

President Supports Dewey Statement That the Navy Is in Good Condition

WASHINGTON, May 21.—President Wilson made public today the message he sent from the Mayflower to the Atlantic fleet, following its departure from New York after he had reviewed it there. The message was as follows:

"I was greatly struck by the appearance of the fleet and the quiet efficiency shown by officers and men, as I am sure every one must have been who had the pleasure of seeing it assembled at New York.

"There could have been no more interesting verification of Admiral Dewey's statement that the navy has never in a better or more efficient condition, and that the country has every reason not only to be proud of it, but every reason to wish to go forward in its policy of steadily adding to its strength and equipment."

GOOD ROADS DAY IN WASH.

OLYMPIA, Wash., May 21.—
"Good Roads" day was being celebrated throughout Washington Sat-

BURNS HERSELF TO DEATH FEARING TO TESTIFY IN CASE

MILWAUKEE, May 21.—Mrs. Anna Koritorovich, 45, died yesterday of burns received when she poured kerosene over her clothing and set fire to herself last night. According to the police, the woman's act was the result of threats alleged to have been made by a man against whom she was to have testified in district court today. This man, the police say, was arrested on a statutory charge,
and Mrs. Koritorovich had been subpoenaed as a witness.

DITTMAR'S VOTE DECIDES
TWO TIE VOTES IN SENATE
Hansen Bill Abolishing Election
Pamphlet and Ackley Bill Preventing Independent Candidacies Are Slaughtered

MADISON, Wis., May 21.—Lieut.
Governor Dittmar played a prominent part in the proceedings of the state senate at yesterday's session, casting the deciding vote on measures seeking to abolish the election pamphlet and to prevent independent candidates, who had been running in the succeeding election.
The Hansen bill seeking the abolition of the election pamphlet was amended, so as to leave the present law as it is, except that the rates for space were cut in half. The vote was 16 to 15, the lieutenant governor breaking the tie. As amended the sponsors for the original bill refused to support it and it was then defeated 18 to 14.
The Ackley bill, preventing independent candidates, was reconsidered by the vote of the lieutenant governor and then killed by a vote of 17 to 15.

All Blood Disorders Quickly Driven Away

Astonishing Results With the Greatest Blood Purifier Ever Discovered.

Strength, Power, Accomplishment are all typified in S. S. S.
Some blood disorders become deeply rooted in the glands and tissues, and the mistake is made of resorting to drastic drugs. These only aggravate by causing other and worse troubles. A host of people know this to be true. They know from painful experience.
To get right down into where the blood is vitiated requires S. S. S., the greatest blood purifier ever discovered.
This remarkable remedy contains one ingredient, the active purpose of which is to stimulate the tissues to the healthy selection of its own essential nutrient
and the medicinal elements of this matchless blood purifier are just as essential to well balanced health as the nutritious elements of the meats, grains, fats and sugars of our daily food.
Not only this, but if from the presence of some disturbing poison there is a local or general interference of nutrition to cause boils, carbuncles, abscesses and kindred troubles, S. S. S. so directs the local cells that this poison is rejected and

FILIBUSTER MADE IN STATE SENATE OVER HANSON BILL

Lawmakers Juibbe Hours
Over Primary Election Pamphlet Law Without Decision

MADISON, Wis., May 21.—(Special.)—A motion was made in the state senate Thursday evening to resist the senate's action of the morning in defeating the Hanson
bill repealing the primary election pamphlet law. This precipitated a parliamentary battle between the supporters and opponents of the election pamphlet, which finally resulted in final action being postponed
until next week.
The supporters of the repeal bill took advantage of the absence of several of the opposition senators to force action on the reconsideration
and were successful by a vote of 17
to 10. Further action in reconsid-eration of what was known as the Biehler amendment, which had been adopted in the morning previous to the defeat of the bill before the senate in its original form. This motion carried by a vote of 15 to 13.
The Biehler amendment was then rejected by a vote of 15 to 12. The supporters of repeal were about to carry their point in engrossing the Hanson bill, when Senator Skogmo offered a substitute amendment, which under the rules would go over
until next week.
Senator Bennett would amend Senator Bennett at this point raised the point of order that the amendment was not in order, as it was similar to one formerly acted on. It developed on the reading of the amendment that one clause was different than the amendment previously acted on, and the lieutenant governor asked that he be allowed until morning to go over the two amendments, so he could rule intelligently. Senator Bennett insisted on an immediate ruling, and the chair announced that he would rule the amendment in order, although reluctantly. Senator Bennett then appealed from the decision of the chair.

Inquiry

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Rev.
Daniel S. McCorkle, a young Presbyterian preacher from Sunrise,

ers in the Colorado strike before the industrial relations committee.
Though he lives in a house and preaches in a church that the Colo-

he asserted his sympathies
were with the strikers.
Commissioner Weinstock sought to point out that the men in Colorado armed themselves ten days before the strike broke.
"The company had machine guns
ready," retorted the minister.

COURT UPHOLDS COMPTROLLER IN RIGHT TO ASK REPORTS

Riggs Case Today is Featured by Judicial Rebutte to Joe Bailey
Which Causes Him to Threaten Withdrawal

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Without going into the question whether or not Comptroller Williams was exercising his powers properly in connection with the Riggs National bank, District Judge McCoy stated at yesterday's session of the Riggs
case that he did not question the
comptroller's right to call for special as well as the ordinary regular
reports from a national bank.
A rebuke from Judge McCoy caused
former Senator Joseph W. Bailey,
of counsel for the Riggs bank, to
threaten to withdraw from the case.
Bailey's threat of withdrawing
was the sudden aftermath of a statement by Justice McCoy that if the
former senator repeated a remark
which the court felt was discourte-
ous he would ask that some other
counsel argue the bank's case.
"If the court feels that way," said
Bailey, "I will withdraw this minute."
Justice McCoy replied that the former senator might do as he pleased, but the court would not submit
to what it considered highly improper remarks.
Bailey then said he would argue
the case, "because I owe to my clients a duty even higher than I
owe to myself."

ASQUITH FORMING HIS NEW CABINET

Confers with Leaders of the Other Parties and Private Secretary of the King

LONDON, May 21.—Premier Asquith yesterday took up the task of forming the new coalition cabinet which is to supplant the present liberal ministry. The cabinet will not be completed for several days and it is expected formal announcement of its composition will be withheld until just before parliament convenes June 2.

At this official residence in Downing street the prime minister today conferred with Arthur Balfour, who is said to be slated to become first lord of the admiralty; Bonar Law, unionist leader, who is certain of a portfolio, Lord Lan-downe, Sir Edward Grey, David Lloyd-George and Home Secretary McKenna.

Later in the day the prime minister conferred with Marquis Crewe and Austin Chamberlain. While the conference was in progress Lord Stanfordham, private secretary to King George, arrived at Asquith's residence and was admitted.

COURT UPHOLDS COMPTROLLER
IN RIGHT TO ASK REPORTS

Riggs Case Today is Featured by Judicial Rebutte to Joe Bailey
Which Causes Him to Threat-
en Withdrawal

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Without going into the question whether
or not Comptroller Williams was exercising his powers properly in connection with the Riggs National
bank, District Judge McCoy stated at
yesterday's session of the Riggs
case that he did not question the
comptroller's right to call for special as well as the ordinary regular
reports from a national bank.

former Senator Joseph W. Bailey,
of counsel for the Riggs bank, to
threaten to withdraw from the case.
Bailey's threat of withdrawing
was the sudden aftermath of a statement by Justice McCoy that if the
former senator repeated a remark
which the court felt was discourte-
ous he would ask that some other
counsel argue the bank's case.

"If the court feels that way," said
Bailey, "I will withdraw this minute."
Justice McCoy replied that the former senator might do as he pleased, but the court would not submit
to what it considered highly im-
proper remarks.

Bailey then said he would argue
the case, "because I owe to my clients a duty even higher than I

are guarding the harbors at Venice and Genoa to prevent interned German ships from putting out to sea.

The German ambassador, Prince von Buelow, and the Austrian special envoy, von Macchio, have not yet left Rome. It was stated at their embassies early today. Presumably under orders from their governments, they are making final arrangements for the protection of their citizens whose business interests require them to remain in Italy after hostilities actually begin. Von Buelow, according to one report, confided to attaches of a neutral embassy here that he did not expect to leave Rome for at least two days.

The unanimity of parliament's action in supporting the government's war program was a surprise to even the pro-war leaders today. Only one deputy, the socialist Xurati, opposed passage of the bill in the brief debate. The socialists were expected to vote in opposition to the measure but it had been rumored the opposition would also include votes from other parties.

Leaders of the woman suffrage movement have issued a public statement calling on all classes in Italy to bury their differences and rally to the support of the government. Various other organizations took similar action at meetings held last night.

Every school building in Italy was today taken over by the military, in conformity with arrangements made several weeks ago. Buildings near the frontier will be used to quarter troops. Those in the interior are being converted into hospitals.

A score of women of the nobility met today to organize hospital units. Following the example set by the Princess Ruspoli, an American by birth, many members of noble families today announced that they will throw open their palaces for use as hospitals.

EXTENSIVE WORK AT FISH HATCHERY TO START SOON

Congressman John J. Esch Advised from Washington La Crosse Is Favored by Fisheries Men

SERIES OF PONDS PLANNED

Work Here to Be Started as Soon as Appropriation Becomes Available This Summer

Extensive improvements at the North La Crosse fish hatchery are contemplated by the United States fisheries commission to take effect as soon as the government appropriations for fish protection become available.

This is the substance of a communication received by Congressman John J. Esch this morning.

H. M. Smith, commissioner of fisheries in response to a query by Congressman Esch declared that the La Crosse hatchery is one of the most successful in the Mississippi river territory. The letter in part reads:

Work Here Gratifying

"It is gratifying to learn of the excellent results attained in the propagation of trout and pike perch at this station, and I can see no reason why it can not be made a valuable adjunct of the fish-cultural operations now being conducted by the bureau in the upper Mississippi valley, both in connection with the rescue of fishes from the overflow waters of the Mississippi river, and as a trout station during the winter months when field work is not possible."

With a view of operating the station along these lines adequate facilities will be provided in the way of equipment, and as soon as the appropriation for the next fiscal year becomes available a representative from this office will be sent to North La Crosse to lay out a plan for the construction of a series of cement ponds to be used in connection with the rescue operations and also for trout culture.

"While I should be glad to comply with your request for an additional consignment of five million pike perch eggs for development at the North La Crosse station, the season is now closed and there are no eggs available for distribution. Your request will be borne in mind, however, and next spring a sufficient number of eggs will be furnished to provide fry for stocking the waters you refer to in the vicinity of La Crosse, and in Minnesota."

"I take this opportunity to thank you for the interest you have taken in the bureau's operations on the Mississippi river."

BOSSHARD'S REST BILL IS KILLED

Senate Votes Down La Crosse Man's Measure After Refusing Amendment

MADISON, Wis., May 21. — The senate this morning killed Senator Otto Bosshard's one day rest in seven bill by a vote of 22 to 7. An amendment permitting the railroad and industrial commissions to exempt classes of employers from the provisions of the bill, was first rejected by a vote of 20 to 9.

The Hansen bill abolishing the foreign language requirement at the university was refused reconsideration after having been killed by a vote of 15 to 11.

The Culbertson anti-hazing bill was placed on final passage by a vote of 16 to 12.

The Bray resolution amending the constitution so that all the present constitutional officers would be appointed by the governor was defeated on final passage by a vote of 16 to 12.

The Bosshard bill which would permit the submission of the license question in two forms was reported for indefinite postponement.

Under the terms of the bill it would be possible to vote on the sale of liquor having over six per cent alcohol and also on the limitation to the sale of liquor under six per cent.

REV. A. A. MYERS TAKES CHARGE OF CALEDONIA CHURCH

Former Grand Rapids, Minn., Pastor Accepts Methodist Congregation Call

CALEDONIA, Minn., May 21.—(Special.)—Rev. A. A. Myers, who for three years has been in charge of the Methodist church at Grand Rapids, Minn., a town in the mining district of the state, has been assigned by the Bishop to the Methodist Episcopal church here.

He comes with recommendations from his former charge, and is spoken of as a man of high principles and more than average ability. The local church has been without a minister but a short time, the late incumbent having left for a field of greater promise in North Dakota, but a few weeks ago.

The Rev. Mr. Myers will be in Caledonia the latter part of the week and will assume charge of his new work at once, beginning with the services for this coming Sunday. A royal reception will be accorded him by the church, and everything promises well for his work in Caledonia.

Play Cast Announced

The senior class play, "What Happened to Jones," which is a farce comedy, will be given in the Opera house on Friday and Saturday evenings, May 28 and 29. Miss Catherine Cassidy, director of the play, has been very successful in past efforts along this line and if the current rumors are to be trusted the play this year will be no exception to the rule. The cast contains the following: Ara Latham, Henry Wisland, Aloysius Ludwig, Earl Ramsey, Harold Abbotts, Kenneth Dahle, Henrietta Kruger, Genevieve Stewart, Helen Gassett, Margaret Weber, Grace Kemp, Ruth Quay, Agatha Schmitz.

Meistradt a Delegate

Houston county has not only the best debating team in the state of Minnesota, but she is capable of winning unto herself other honors as well. This latest achievement comes in the form of a letter from Governor Hammond to Robert Meistradt telling him that because of his winning the first prize in the corn essay contest last year, he has been made a delegate from this state to the Universal Corn exhibition to be held in San Francisco in August of this year.

Local and Personal

Rev. H. J. Wein returned Wednesday evening from Decorah, Iowa, at which place he attended the meeting of the finance committee of the Norwegian Lutheran church.

J. E. Stenehjem and Lloyd Duxbury motored to Spring Grove Tuesday evening to attend the meeting of the automobile association.

Senator F. A. Duxbury and son Leland have returned from their visit to Duluth, where they spent some days as the guests of Mr. Charles P. Craig.

The Mother's circle of the Presbyterian church met in the church parlors Thursday afternoon for its regular monthly meeting.

Leo Ryan of the La Crosse normal school returned to his work Thursday morning after a two days' visit in the village with old friends and former school mates. Mr. Ryan was a member of our high school debating team for two years and his faithful work counted toward winning the cup.

The village council will hold its June meeting on or around the 18th of next month in order that the saloon licenses for next year may be granted. The county option forces had given warning that the licenses would have to be granted before the election which takes place on the 21st, or there might be some difficulty about the matter, and this was not desired.

Preparations are under way for the annual Memorial day program. In accordance with the Governor's proclamation, Monday will be observed as Decoration day this year, and the program will be given in the town hall as usual.

VALIEVO BLACK HOLE OF PLAGUE

erworked horse began the rounds again.

One Doctor for Thousands

"The misery and the suffering in Valievo are indescribable. When Dr. Cooke and I arrived there in January the town was filled with hundreds wounded from the last great battle with the Austrians, centering near there."

"There were no hospitals. The wounded had been piled on racks in a big warehouse, 150 to a row. They were without bedding and when we arrived there was only one Serbian doctor in charge of them all. We were given 400 men to attend. Later a Holland Red Cross unit arrived."

"In the midst of these terrible conditions the typhus epidemic reached its height. There were neither hospitals nor doctors for the civil population. The disease spread like wildfire, the poor victims dying unattended, in their homes."

Famine Cops Suffering

"Then came a food famine that lasted nearly a month. The suffering from the fever was increased by hunger. The mortality from typhus reached 75 per cent. The disease was especially deadly when it attacked the Austrian prisoners. Of the 1400 quartered at Valievo only 200 are still alive. But the Serbian government is doing its best and the mortality rate is going lower."

Upon his arrival here Dr. MacCookingham was decorated by the Serbian Red Cross for his heroic work and given a gold medal by the government.

RIOTS BEGIN IN MEXICO CITY AS FOOD GETS SHORT

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The Mexico City situation today was serious. The majority of the inhabitants were hungry. No food supplies were entering the capital. Existing supplies were nearly exhausted. There have been incipient riots. All the international relief committee's efforts to get food in through Carranzista territory have failed.

The United States has asked the Red Cross to act, but that organization is discouraged. Every time food has been sent to interior points, it has been commandeered for the army.

SCHMALL WAIVES HIS EXAMINATION IN WINONA TRIAL

William Schmally, 42, 726 South Fourth street, employee of the Western Union Telegraph company here will await the next term of circuit court in Winona county, at the Winona jail, for the alleged theft of $150 worth of copper and zinc from the company. Schmally was arrested yesterday upon complaint of A. Young, superintendent of the company at Minneapolis, and followed the finding of discrepancies in Mr. Schmally's materials. Schmally waived examination, offered at Winona county court yesterday.

Northwest Primary, Fourth ward—Miss Florence Oberg, Neenah, first grade; Miss Ruth Enckhausen, Sparta.

Pilcher Represents La Crosse

The state oratorical contest will be held at Racine May 28, instead of Madison as hitherto.

The reason for the change is the fact that Madison will not be represented and it was decided to hold it in Racine, which has won the district contest there.

Each of the eight normal school districts will be represented by one speaker, and the winner of the contest will be the state champion.

The La Crosse district will be represented at the contest by Neal Pilcher of Sparta.

RUBBER WORKERS TO HAVE OUTING TO WINONA SUNDAY

With a care free air and well filled lunch baskets, members of the Rubber Boot and Shoe Workers' union of La Crosse and their friends will journey up the Mississippi river Sunday to Winona, via the steamboat route. Everyone is invited.

GIRLS "GYM" CLASS EXHIBITS

The alumni girls' gymnasium exhibition will be held tonight in the High gymnasium. Only those who have invitation cards will be admitted. Four hundred fifty-two girls will take part. The program is divided into nine number. The exhibition will begin promptly at eight o'clock.

La Crosse Cows Now Set Records For Milk Yield

One Guernsey cow last month produced 1,280 pounds of milk, establishing a new record for La Crosse county. The cow is owned by O. C. Tanson, a member of the La Crosse Cow Testing association.

Another of Mr. Hanson's cows, also a Guernsey, produced 1,239 pounds of milk. A cow owned by Manley Libakken produced 1,123 pounds.

Of the twenty-two cows entered in the contest last month, none dropped below the 600 mark, and the majority produced an average of 1,000 pounds.

BOY SCOUTS START HIKE TO BLUFFS AND SUMMER WORK

Instructions in Plant and Bird Life Part of Program Opening on Saturday

Instruction in tree and plant life by George H. Brettnall of the normal school will be the feature of a hike tomorrow to the bluffs east of the city by Troop No. 2, Boy Scouts, comprising Rattlesnake, Badger, Buffalo, Flying Eagle, Hot Trailers, Stag and Blazing Arrow patrols. Tests in first class scout work will be given. Starting at 1 o'clock, the party will return late in the afternoon.

A change in the time of meeting of Troop 2 was made recently. The troop after June 10, will meet at 6:45 on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month at the Y. M. C. A.

To Observe Soldiers' Day

Preparation for participation in the memorial program is being made by the life, drum and bugle corps at the Washburn school grounds. The corps meets on Tuesday, Thursdays and Saturdays of each week.

Kirk White, Arthur Peterson, Charles Looney, Ellis Lyon, Douglas Pagar, Charles Heyerdahl, Stanton Taylor and Albert Niebuhr have finished second class scout work. Five of the number have commenced work on first class scout manual, having passed seven of the twelve tests.

Carl Roehri, Selmar Strand, Clarence Aughey, Billy Hutzgen and Kenneth Harrier have been instructed and qualified as tenderfoot scouts during the last month. Their examinations in third class work will be completed soon.

WALSH SHOWS NO MERCY ON JOHN D.

WASHINGTON, May 21. — if Chairman Frank P. Walsh of the Industrial Relations committee had promised to be considerate of John D. Rockefeller's feeling today, as was reported, he referred only to the language from which he framed his questions.

His language was courteous indeed, but he omitted to ask no questions merely because they might prove unpleasant to the young multimillionaire. The latter kept mentally cool most of the time but the drops of perspiration which formed on his forehead and chin were not accounted for by the room's temperature.

Little Information

As for information, little was developed. All that was obtained was an insight into the younger Rockefeller's philosophy and his opinion concerning the Colorado industrial warfare.

Following repeated clashes with Chairman Walsh of the federal industrial relations committee yesterday afternoon, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., read a prepared statement to the commission this morning when he resumed his testimony in which he denied any improper connection of the Rockefeller interests with the recent murder trial and conviction of John R. Lawson, and affirmed high respect for the courts. He declared that he enjoyed no higher privilege than any other citizen with respect to the administration of justice.

WESTBY BONDED FOR BIG SUM IN SPECIAL ELECTION

WESTBY, Wis., May 21.—(Special.)—By a vote of six to one, Westby yesterday voted to bond the village for $30,000.

Work on the erection of a combination village hall, jail and library building will be started within a few days. Bids for the work are being let today.

Westby will do away with its privately owned lighting plant. The voters also agreed upon the erection of a municipal lighting plant.

Over $7,000 will be spent in paved streets.

CHARLES BOYER DIES ON NORTH SIDE

Charles Boyer, aged 55, for thirty years a boiler maker at the Milwaukee and Burlington shops here, died at his home, 816 Caledonia street, today after an illness of three weeks with diabetes.

Mr. Boyer was born at Onalaska, September 2, 1855. He is a member of the La Crosse lodge of the Yeomen, and is also affiliated with the Mystic Workers.

He is survived by a widow and two daughters, Mrs. Harry Boyle and Mrs. Percy Boyle, both of La Crosse. Five brothers also survive. They are John, La Crosse; Edward, Duluth, Minn.; Joseph, Oakland, Cal., and William and Frank of Onalaska.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon at the residence, 816 Caledonia street. Rev. Finch A. Clark will officiate, and interment will take place at Oak Grove cemetery.

FRANK E. LONG IS CALLED BY DEATH

Frank E. Long, former manager of a well known repertory company which has played at the La Crosse theater, and known by many in La Crosse, died at his home in Minneapolis yesterday. Apoplexy caused death. Interment will be made at Austin, Minn., Mr. Long's former home.

LAWYER ON STAND TELLS HIS JURORS OF MEASUREMENTS

Then Paul W. Mahoney Argues Testimony in Derr Suit Now Before Court

Telling the jury while on the witness stand of measurements which he took with a lantern of the Milwaukee tracks at Caledonia street at night, Attorney Paul W. Mahoney, counsel for the Milwaukee Railroad company in E. H. Derr's circuit court suit to recover $3,000 damages, late this afternoon argued his case to the jury, including the testimony which he himself gave.

After testimony lasting nearly two days, the case was placed in the hands of the jury late this afternoon.

Derr was driving an automobile across the Caledonia street crossing of the Milwaukee tracks on the north side when a box car "side-swiped" his car, throwing him out.

The suit of August Freimant against the Milwaukee for a similar accident will probably be started this afternoon in circuit court.

SIMPLE SERVICES FOR GEO. B. ROSE

Pioneer Jeweler Will Be Buried Tomorrow After Quiet Rites at the Home

Simplicity will mark the funeral services tomorrow afternoon of George B. Rose, Sr., pioneer jeweler of La Crosse, who died at 8:30 Wednesday evening at his home, 520 South Fourth street, at the age of 85 years. Services will be held at 2:30 at the residence, with Rev. Henry Andreas officiating. Simple services will be held at the Oak Grove Mausoleum, where interment will take place. It is the request of the family that no flowers be sent.

SPOTLIGHTS

ELSIE FERGUSON
Miss Elsie Ferguson, whom Charles Frohman, Klaw and Erlanger will present at the La Crosse theater tonight in the last big attraction of the present season, began her stage career by joining the chorus of a road company of "The Belle of New York." Later on she was engaged by Francis Wilson when he put on "The Strollers." Then she was chosen for "The Liberty Bells" and having a strong, unmistakable personality, was given a line or two to speak.

Her next appearance was in "The Wild Rose," after which she considered her apprenticeship in the chorus complete and sought a more advanced rank on the stage. Her limitless ambition launched her in the Charles Frohman production of "The New Clown," from which she graduated to "The Two Schools," in which she merely walked on and off with well remembered girlish charm. Upon the withdrawal of Ida Conquest from this company, Miss Ferguson was advanced to the role she understudied and became the leading woman, a position she enjoyed for only three days. She then appeared in "The Girl from Kays," "The Second Fiddle," in which Louis Mann starred; was with Lulu Glaser in "Dolly Dollars," with Louis Mann and Clara Lipman in "Julie Bonbon," with Kyrie Bellew in "Brigadier Gerard" and in London with Cyril Maude in "The Earl of Pawtucket." Returning to the United States Miss Ferguson played the role of Crebba in "Pierre of the Plains" and then appeared with Wilton Lackaye in "The Battle." Then came her engagement in "The Traveling Salesman," her promotion to the stellar role in "Such a Little Queen," then two unimportant appearances and next her appearance as Dolly Madison in "The First Lady of the Land." Miss Ferguson then starred at the head of her own company under the direction of Klaw and Erlanger in "Primrose," a comedy by Caillavet and de Fleurs, and last season scored a brilliant success in "The Strange Woman." She is at present appearing in "Outcast."

To an engaged couple wedded life appears to be all sunshine—but to a husband and wife it looks suspiciously like moonshine at times.

The Pains of Sciatica

Dr. E. C. Underwood says that there is no expression of neuralgia which is more distressing than that known as Sciatica. The cause of this condition is usually exposure to cold and dampness. One of the most common causes is rheumatism; indeed this is so often the cause that some writers include sciatica among the varieties of rheumatism. The treatment includes remedies to counteract the cause of the disease, as well as measures looking to the relief of pain. Whatever treatment may be employed, two things must be borne in mind—the patient must be kept as free from pain as possible and be kept as quiet as possible. One or every two or three hours, and the patient must be warned against going out in inclement weather. Anti-Kamnia Tablets may be obtained at all drug stores in any quantity, be worth of more. Ask for A-K Tablets. In Headaches, Neuralgias, and all Pains, they give prompt relief.

RUPLIN'S "STAFF OF LIFE" KEEPS US TWO DECADES

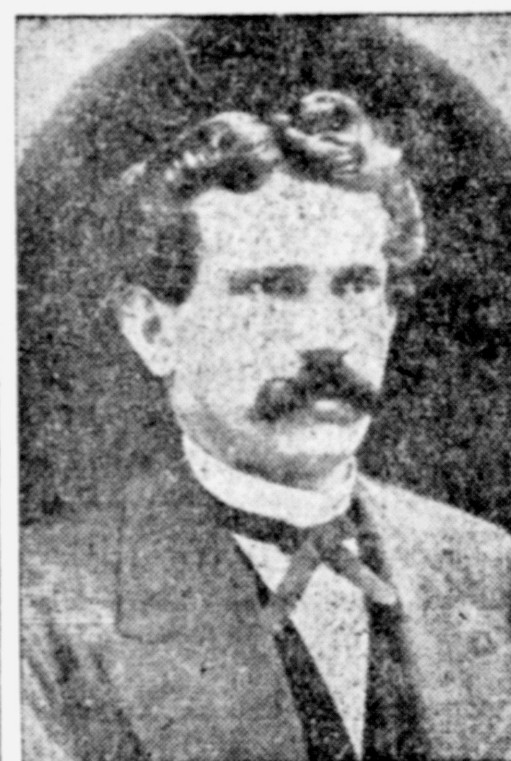

Twentieth Anniversary of Progressive Modern Bakery Celebrated by the Founder Yesterday

INDUSTRY IS AN IMPORTANT ONE

Increase from 150 to 5,000 Loaves Daily Means Much to City of La Crosse

"I have eaten his bread—I love him well," said Don Quixote, which reminds us that for two decades the people of La Crosse have eaten Jacob Ruplin's bread, and love him well. There must be something satisfactory in making bread. "Here is bread, that strengthens man's heart, and therefore is called the staff of life," wrote Matthew Henry. How much better, in the pursuit of industry, to make a product that builds up rather than tears down!

Pleasant Anniversary
Yesterday was the twentieth anniversary of the establishment of the Ruplin bakery, and commemorates twenty years of growth. It is an interesting industry, for it presents the work of a father expanding each year to make room for his boys, so that the family has been held together, working with one project, side by side, in harmony. An industry that serves a large and growing public and holds a large and ambitious family together serves its community well.

JACOB RUPLIN
Founder of La Crosse Bakery Known Throughout Northwest

A Record of Growth
Twenty years ago, on May 20, 1895, Mr. Ruplin started a bakery at Fourth and King streets, buying the property of the late Christian Beyer. He continued in business there until 1900, when he built the present home of the company at 420 South Fourth street. Two sons, Carl and Arthur, grew up with the business and are now Mr. Ruplin's chief lieutenants.

Growing from a ten-hour capacity of 150 loaves to 5,000 loaves, the Ruplin company has developed one of the largest trades in the business in this section of the country, its jobbing trade extending into Minnesota, Iowa and outlying towns and communities in Wisconsin.

Besides the enormous output of bread, the firm enjoys a big trade in pastry. A retail store is maintained at the bakery.

Industry Important
The Ruplin company has had a growing importance to La Crosse in its constantly increasing payroll and in the amount of money the sale of its products brings into La Crosse from the outside. Hence it is rated as one of this city's first-class industries.

The Ruplins were the recipients of many expressions of congratulation upon passing their twentieth milestone with a progressive and successful enterprise.

PEACE INSURANCE SUGGESTED AS A PREVENTATIVE OF WARS

Lake Mohonk Conference Hears Unique Suggestion put Forward by Former Governor of Connecticut

LAKE MOHONK, N. Y., May 21.—"Insuring nations against pecuniary loss in wars would tend to discourage war, for the capitalists, granting the insurance, would then work for peace in the interests of their bank accounts," was the novel suggestion as a war preventive made by Simon E. Baldwin, former governor of Connecticut, to the conference on international arbitration today.

Former Governor Baldwin emphasized the need of self-control in governments as well as individuals. He declared "the soft answer of diplomacy from a foreign office is a better preventative of war than a rough threat."

He cited the instance when John Hay was secretary of state and Germany was understood to have in contemplation the acquisition of an island off the Venezuelan coast. Hay, the speaker said, courteously reminded Berlin of the Monroe doctrine and, though veiled, Hay's course accomplished more than the method of iron would have done.

Only a few of the threats are executed.

BOOSTERS VISIT PRAIRIE DU CHIEN

H. A. Beach Suffers Stroke of Paralysis; Discovered Value of Mineral Water Here

Boosters Visit Prairie
Two hundred strong the Peoria Boosters, businessmen of that city and members of the Peoria Association of Commerce, spent one hour here yesterday. A large delegation of local businessmen greeted them, and with their own band at its head, a parade, the like of which Prairie du Chien has never seen, marched through the business district. Speeches were given by several.

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, Wis., May 21.—(Special).—H. A. Beach, who has been in ill health for two years, suffered a stroke of paralysis at his home in Michigan street Tuesday and is reported in a critical condition.

Mr. Beach was for some years one of the proprietors of the Crawford County Press and retired from business two years ago.

He is a son of the late Horace Beach, one of the old time prominent citizens of Prairie du Chien, and the discoverer of Prairie du Chien's wealth of mineral water.

Local and Personal
O. N. Brodt has sold his jewelry stock to L. F. Wiltgen of Sioux City, Iowa, who will take immediate possession. Mr. Brodt retires from business temporarily because of ill health and will spend the summer on his farm near Patch Grove.

Another business change in the city this week was the purchase of the Boucher dray line and equipment by Alvin H. Walters, who will conduct the business after June 1.

Mrs. Joe Ducharme left Thursday morning for Waukon, summoned there to attend the funeral of her father.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Honzel have closed their home for the summer and Mrs. Honzel left Tuesday for Havre, Mont., to visit her brother, William Merrill.

Dr. and Mrs. Rowley of Middleton, Wis., arrived Wednesday at the home of Mrs. J. C. Rowley, returning from a month spent in California.

Miss Lilah Keysar visited over Sunday with friends in La Crosse.

Dr. and Mrs. R. R. Harris and little daughter of Dubuque visited over Sunday at the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Hall.

Mrs. J. D. Day spent a few days this week at the home of her husband's parents in Boscobel.
Joseph Wachuts has purchased a building lot from W. T. Smith in the Second ward near the ball park and will erect a dwelling thereon.
Mrs. Susan of Kenosha has arrived in the city and will spend the summer at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Susan.

THREE DEAD AND TWO INJURED

HELENA, MONT., May 21.—An automobile turned turtle at Montana City, eight miles from here, killing James Jones, the driver; T. M. Little, a Helena saloon owner, and Genevieve Harned, 18. Miss Evelyn Chapman was seriously injured and may die. Mrs. Harned, mother of the dead girl, and Leslie McKinney escaped.

TRACTION STRIKE DUE IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, May 21.—Chicago today faced what was feared might be one of the most serious traction strikes in her history. Secretary William Tabor, of Division 21, Amalgamated Associations of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America, today issued a statement declaring that his union will unalterably oppose any attempt to arbitrate the demands for shorter hours and higher wages which are to be presented to the surface companies within a few hours.

SHEPARD TELLS HOW HE "SAW THE CHICKENS COME HOME TO ROOST"

BY WILLIAM G. SHEPHERD
(United Press Staff Correspondent).
Copyright, 1915, by the United Press. Copyright in Great Britain.
HEADQUARTERS OF THE BRITISH ARMY, NORTHERN FRANCE, April 28.—By Mail to New York.—I stood out on the flying field at dusk this evening with a score of French's young flying men and "saw the chickens come home to roost."

Of all the tense hours, on the flying grounds, the one hour of twilight and dusk, before nightfall, is the hour that tugs hardest at the nerves of the British flying men. Wherever a flying man may be you will see a certain nervousness and distraction over him about sunset. Soon he will stir himself and whether he walks along the French roads to where his flying grounds are situated or whether he is lucky enough to get a lift in a passing automobile, you will find him, some time before darkness begins to fall, on his own particular flying field. He is "waiting for the chickens to come home to roost," as he calls it.

I walked out of town early this evening with two flying men. "I've got a couple of pals who've been up in the sky all afternoon," explained one of the flyers. "I want to see whether they've come in or not."

"Yes," assented the other, "there are four fellows from my mess who went out this afternoon, and you rather want to know if they're in before dark, don't you see?"

PALE BEAUTY FADES

The girl who comes home from school or shop tired out every day may be beautiful but she will soon fade. She will be fortunate if she escapes a physical breakdown because the ease with which she tires is probably the first warning symptom of a thinning of the blood that cannot be disregarded.

Thin blood may give an attractive pallor for a short time but soon the patient becomes thin, flat-chested, haggard and angular. The only beauty that endures is that of rich, red blood shining through a transparent skin.

Almost any girl can build up her blood by using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They are useful to growing girls, to pale girls, thin girls and those who get tired or out of breath easily. Mothers of such girls should see to it that the tendency to anemia is checked by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills before the trouble becomes chronic.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will build up the blood if anything will. They are free from opiates or harmful drugs and can be taken with perfect safety by anyone. Your own druggist sells them so you can begin the treatment at once. A helpful booklet, "Building Up the Blood" will be sent you free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

When we got to the field we found thirty or more of the young, lithe Britishers who make up General French's flying squadron at this particular place. They stood about in knots, chatting, cutting nervously at the grass with their canes, or sitting in the lee of the hangars to protect themselves from the cold fifty mile an hour wind. I notice that, with all their seeming idleness and pre-occupation, their sharp trained glances were raking the evening skies.

"There's—I think," said one young fellow, I followed his gaze and what I saw was a dot in the sky no larger than the head of a pin.

"No, I think that's—" said another youth.

"Right you are," said the first one. "I was mistaken."

Develop Sense of Detection

How he knew he was mistaken I could not understand. Neither could the flying men explain to me how they had developed the ability to distinguish one aeroplane from another. They have simply developed it, that's all.

The spot grew bigger; suddenly the machine tilted and spiraled down dizzily. Within a minute or two it alighted and two heavily furred young Britishers climbed from it.

One after another the spots appeared in the sky, were recognized as — or —, the machine alighted — or — climbed out and came over to join our group.

"Who isn't in yet?"

"Who isn't in yet?" was always the question they asked. Safe themselves from the battle line, where the daily shrapnel had been broken about them, they were as curious and anxious as we for the safe return of the other chaps.

At last all were in but one.

Night was almost upon us. A man in an aeroplane must see the grass when he alights; there's a clever little throw of the lever which he must give at the last moment that will bring him to earth lightly instead of in a smash.

"He's a young fellow and a new flyer," explained an officer to me. "Better get out the flares," he said to an attendant.

Plant Lights for Guides

The flares are white lights that are placed about the field when a flyer is benighted; by them he can trace his way through the night sky to his own flying field and, with difficulty can measure his low height from the ground at that last ticklish moment before landing.

Suppose the young flyer didn't come back. Where might he be? This wasn't any ordinary peace time flying meet; this was war time. He might be a wreck of broken bones and bleeding flesh; men had been trying to kill him all afternoon; they had been shooting at him like hunters shooting at a bird; they had hunted him in packs; if he had gone near the trenches it was certain that a thousand German rifles had potted him; he might be a prisoner in the German lines, for if his engine had stopped at the wrong time he had been forced to come down.

We were waiting for a man who might be dead. There were the soldiers setting out the flares and getting ready to light them. No one was speaking now.

"That's him," said an officer.

"Yes," answered three or four of the young men at once.

"Where?" I asked.

"Can't see him yet, but that's his propeller," explained one of my friends.

Their trained ears had caught the hum of the aeroplane engine.

Soon he came into view; it was almost dark and the aeroplane loomed large when I caught the first glimpse of it. It settled down on to the field, two young fellows piled out of it, clumsily on account of their many clothes, and walked over to us.

"Who isn't in?" asked one of them.

"Everybody's here," said the captain.

"Good," said the young fellow for whom he had all been waiting.

Then we all dispersed. Every "chicken" had come home to "roost."

GALESVILLE, WIS.

There is a rumor abroad that the Green Bay railroad will build a spur from Blair to Ettrick, thus opening up a rich territory with railroad connection.

Entertain Students
Mrs. Ivan Dale entertained a number of teachers and students of Gale college last Monday. The occasion was the presentation of a linen shower to Miss Caroline Jacobson.

Mrs. W. H. Parker opened her home to a gathering of friends in honor of Mrs. and Miss Norton of Virginia, Minn., last Tuesday evening.

WHO BROUGHT HIS CHICKS AND PUPS TO FATAL MEETING

William H. Hoeschler, of 1320 Vine street, chicken fancier and dog raiser, wants to know who put his two rat terriers into a coop with forty high bred baby chicks.

Hoeschler came home a few days ago to find his chicks dead, and his two dogs taking complete charge of their remains.

The pups bore an "I-didn't-mean-to-do-it" air, but the chickens were scattered about the yard. Hoeschler valued the poultry at $1.50 a head.

VILLAGE APPEARS EN MASSE FOR PARSON'S SLANDER SUIT

Much Interest in Rev. William Leighton's Action Against Rev. E. C. Carton and Testimony is Spicy

JANESVILLE, Wis., May 21.—Half the village of Fulton has migrated to this place to watch the trial of Rev. E. C. Carton of Palmyra, charged with slandering Rev. William Leighton of Fulton, which is under way here. The testimony, spiced with tales of a beautiful artist's model in Chicago, a hotel at Eagle and numerous episodes that are somewhat at variance with the accepted ethics of the ministry, is expected to be completed by the end of the week.

Leighton admitted on the stand that he was divorced before coming to the United States, but contends that for the last five years he has been a model of propriety for his congregation.

Week's Offering In Movieland As Seen in La Crosse

By N. D. Tevis

"Things do move," said the man who took a look at the world in which he had slept, and "things do move," in "Movieland" in La Crosse.

"The Governor's Lady," the production of Belasco that packed the La Crosse theater a year ago came to the Bijou this week with a better cast than when in the legitimate. The picture was also produced by Belasco.

The Majestic showed "A Fool There Was." The Casino exhibited popular Metro pictures, and the Lyric had its usual run of features and short pictures.

Majestic Theater
The story of "Anna Karenina," Count Tolstoi's masterpiece, with Betty Nansen, popular actress of Scandinavian pictures, is the attraction at the Majestic today and tomorrow.

The picture is another of the famous Fox Film corporation pictures made by J. Gordon Edwards.

Betty Nansen was brought to America by William Fox and "Anna Karenina" is her second production.

The first four days of next week bring "The Clemenceau Case," with William E. Shaw, Theda Bara and Stuart Holmes to the Majestic. The photoplay is a real sensation.

"The Avenging Conscience," a screen version of Edgar Allen Poe's "The Telltale Heart," and "Annabelle Lee," will open at the Majestic next Thursday.

Lyric Theater
Little Leslie is being featured at the Lyric tonight in the Lubin story of "A Tragedy of the Hills." A comedy and drama are on the same program. The picture was seen at the Strand theater at Minneapolis by Manager Burford and is vouched for.

The popular Hearst-Selig weekly is the attraction booked for Saturday. The Atlantic fleet is shown gathering for inspection in the Hudson.

"By the Sea" is the newest of the Charles Chaplin pictures and will be featured Sunday night at the Lyric with "The Lady of the Light-house," a three part Broadway Star picture.

Monday brings "A Romance of the Navy," a timely portrayal of life at sea. The Lyric management has made arrangements to secure first choice of all General Film company offerings of the fifty-four releases weekly.

Casino Programs
"What Happened to Jones," with Fred Mac, Josie Sadler and Mary Charleson is being shown tonight at the Casino. Just because Mac is playing the leading role ought to mean a stampede of picture fans.

The long waited feature, "The Heart of Maryland," said to be one of the biggest and most costly productions of recent months, will be the attraction at the Casino Monday and Tuesday.

The play is produced by Herbert Brenon author of "Neptune's Daughter." Mrs. Leslie Carter, an international star, and an only recent deserter from the legitimate, will play the leading role in the powerful drama of civil war times. Of the scores of war pictures "The Heart of Maryland" is probably the very best. The New York Hippodrome, the largest moving picture theater in the world, opened with the production.

Wednesday and Thursday will bring Richard Harding Davis' story, "The Lost House," to the Casino. This is another big Metro feature.

Bijou Pictures
"The Governor's Lady" was the big surprise of La Crosse movie world last week, and the main attraction at the Bijou.

Edith Wynne Mathison, leading lady, took the audience by storm in the picture of the play which was a leading attraction at the La Crosse theater last winter.

Pathe Day Wednesday brought "A Perfect 36."

Margaret Clark came back to town yesterday in "Gretna Green," the famous romantic play. Miss Clark was at her very best in the picture. The same picture will be seen tomorrow and Saturday. The third series of the South American travel pictures will be an added attraction.

"Are You a Mason," the big Charles Frohman comedy, with John Barrymore, "the funniest man in pictures," will start a three day engagement at the Bijou Sunday. "Are You a Mason" is said to be even funnier than "A Man from Mexico."

Wednesday will bring the five part Pathe feature, "The Tempting of Justice."

ATTRIBUTE RECOVERY TO NATURE'S CREATION

A few bottles of Nature's Creation have apparently restored Eugene E. Surber, 22 E. Church street, Collinsville, Ill., to health. Formerly subject to severe colds from which he was a chronic sufferer and in misery all winter, he now says, "My nerves are good and my cold has entirely left me."

Mr. Surber was formerly a telegraph operator, living at 1108 College avenue, Greencastle, Ind. "Early last fall," he wrote, "I took a bad cold and was weak, nervous, constipated and had a very poor appetite. My system was in a bad condition. I weighed only 111 pounds, which was 9 pounds less than my regular weight. After taking three bottles of Nature's Creation, I now weigh 121 pounds. I feel like a new person and can't praise your medicine enough."

From all parts of the country come voluntary tributes of sufferers relieved by Nature's Creation, which is an unequalled remedy for tuberculosis and conditions leading to it, such as asthma, bronchitis, catarrh, impure blood and rundown system.

Everyone should learn the truth about this remedy, which we will gladly furnish. Write for a copy of our new booklet "Truth," containing photos and testimonials of former sufferers. Address Elmer Haelein, 32 Sentinel Bldg., Milwaukee, Wis. Nature's Creation is not a patent medicine and is not sold in drug stores. Beware of substitutes—demand the original and genuine Nature's Creation. Watch for Nature's Creation testimonials, which will appear in this paper every Friday.

MICHIGAN SOLONS SUPPORT WILSON

LANSING, Mich., May 21.—By unanimous vote, both branches of the Michigan legislature yesterday adopted resolutions expressing complete confidence in President Wilson and pledging him Michigan's undivided support in any foreign crisis that may result from the sinking of the Lusitania. The legislature is overwhelmingly republican.

COUNTRY WALKERS ACTIVE

DENVER, Colo., May 21.—These are great days for the cross country hikers. With the Panama-Pacific exposition in view, more walkers than ever before are passing through Denver from eastern points, going to the fair shank's mare. Not all are forced to walk; most of the hikers are hoofing it from choice, for the fun, or the exercise or the experiences.

SYNDICATE AFTER THE EVENING MAIL

Dr. E. A. Rumely Heads Syndicate to Purchase the New York Paper

NEW YORK, May 21.—Dr. E. A. Rumely, former head of the $32,000,000 Rumely company of La Porte, Ind., is the financial backer of a syndicate organized by S. S. McClure, which has practically completed negotiations for the purchase of the New York Evening Mail. Henry L. Stoddard, president and editor of the Evening Mail, was quoted today as saying that the deal will probably be consummated next week.

With respect to a report that because Dr. Rumely was a student at Heidelberg and was supposed to be a German sympathizer, the Mail would become a pro-German organ, Stoddard said that so far he knew the rumor was baseless. The new syndicate is said to have a capital of $2,500,000.

FIVE HUNDRED FALL IN LISBON REVOLT

MADRID, May 20.—At least 500 persons were killed or wounded in the two days' fighting in Lisbon that resulted in the success of the revolutionists.

Spanish warships, ordered to the Portuguese capital to protect foreigners, have been withdrawn, excepting the battleship Espana and two torpedo boats. Official dispatches to the Spanish government today said that conditions in Lisbon are now tranquil.

AMERICANS LIVING IN GERMANY LISTED

BERLIN, via The Hague, May 20.—Consul General Lay today sent postals to all Americans in the Berlin consular district, asking for their full names, telephone addresses, the date and number of their passports, their occupation and future plans. His object, he said, was to bring the list of Americans in Berlin up to date. Other American consuls in Germany have sent out similar requests.

ST. PAUL'S TERMINAL ELEVATOR

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 21.—Arrangements were completed yesterday for the erection of a $250,000 terminal elevator, by the Equity Co-operative exchange, with headquarters located here. The Minnesota legislature during its closing sessions passed a law legalizing such an elevator. The exchange is the only organization of its kind in the country. It is an organization of farmers engaged in marketing their own crops.

You never can tell. Even the naked truth may have taken off its winter underwear too soon.

against Boston on Thursday by a score of 4 to 2. Hughes struck out eleven Chicago men, but his fine
twirling was undone when the Cubs scored three runs in the seventh on Zimmerman's double, a pass, a sin-

105, Great Britain's oldest woman is dead here.

While living in Scotland, her na-

of candles in the windows in celebration of the victory.

On her 101st birthday a few years

king. She was the widow of Dr.

Mucks, Keeler and Gardner Looked for to Make a Clean Sweep in the Weights

MADISON, Wis., May 21.—Unfavorable weather has hindered serious track practice at the varsity but Coach Jones anticipates an easy win over Minnesota in the dual meet tomorrow at Camp Randall, following the remarkable win over Illinois and the resultant good marks.

Arlie Mucks, Ray Keeler and Moose Gardner are hoped to make a clean sweep for Wisconsin in the weights.

In nearly every event Wisconsin
is known to have an edge on Minnesota. The two mile run result is doubtful. Watson, famous Gopher distance man, will undoubtedly chase Benish, Hedges and Goldie, Wisconsin two-milers, to the limit to win.
The dashes, due to the wonderful improvement shown by Booth, should be Wisconsin victories. Ray Williams' fast time in the quarter
at Illinois is hoped to win from the Gopher 440 men. Harvey, Merrill, and Schardt are thought able to win
the half and mile runs.

Huston in the vault goes better than twelve feet when pushed and Stiles' leap of twenty-four feet one and one-half inches at Illinois is not parallel in the west. Stiles may also win the high jump but a victory
here is uncertain.

ENTERS SMALL TEAM
MADISON, Wis., May 21.—The Madison high school will be represented by only four athletes in the state interscholastic track and field meet at Camp Randall, May 29.
This is the smallest team ever entered by the local school in the state classic, and is the result of lack of interest on the part of the students.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM IS READY FOR THE BIG NORMAL MEET

The Ten Men Entered in Meet Are in High Hopes of Grabbing Off
Honors

La Crosse high school has exceptionally high hopes with regard to the outcome of the normal invitation meet tomorrow. The team of ten men which will represent the local school and which compete with the nine other high schools entered is the best track lineup La Crosse has had for years. The team is proficient in every line of work. In past seasons there have been teams strong along one line. This year the team is strong in all lines and promises to tear up some records tomorrow if the weather is fair. The meet will start promptly at 1:30 tomorrow afternoon.

Loving Cup Offered
The large loving cup which was put up as a trophy in this meet last year and which was won by the La Crosse high school will again be up as a trophy this year. If La Crosse wins again and can win it in 1916 it will become their permanent property as the team winning it thrice in succession will become the owners of the cup.

ATHLETES ARRIVE
FOR NORMAL MEET

Several Teams Are in Town
for the Interscholastic Meet at Normal
Tomorrow

La Crosse is tonight host, host to numbers of athletes from the high schools of neighboring towns, here
for the annual interscholastic track and field meet to be held at the normal school tomorrow. Entrants to the meet began to arrive today from several of the schools entered in preparation for the big athletic event of this section of the country.

Despite unfavorable weather conditions, the meet is expected to prove by far the most successful ever held by the normal school. Keen interest has been aroused in all of the schools entered.

La Crosse high school, with its team of ten men, remains favorite for the meet. Since the school won the silver cup last year, a win tomorrow for the Red and Black would mean a lively chance for coping the trophy as a permanent possession. Should a school win the cup three years in succession, it passes to the winner for permanent possession.

Baraboo, next to La Crosse, is conceded chances for first honors. The Sauk county team has made a reputation for itself and comes to La Crosse fully prepared to give the rest
a run for honors.

WILFRID LAURIER IN ADDRESS
TORONTO, Ont., May 21.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier will address the Liberal club federation of Ontario, in this city tonight at the federation's annual dinner.

Sir Wilfrid is also scheduled to make another address in Toronto today. He is expected to speak at the Provincial Women's Liberal association, which holds its annual meeting here today.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD
BY HAL SHERIDAN
(Written for the United Press.)

Yesterday's Homers
Cravath, Phillies, off Dale,
Reds.
Becker, Phillies, off Dale,
Reds.

It's getting so that Philadelphia counts that day lost wherein Cravath
does not get a home run.

Incidentally, the Reds backed Mr.
Alexander, which is somewhat of a feat this season. All of which is sweet revenge for Charley Dooin.

Even the Pirates can now lick the Giants. Perritt didn't look worth anywhere near the trouble yesterday that McGraw took to get him last winter.

Tom-Hughes of the Braves struck out eleven Cubs, but lost 4 to 2.
Timely swatting by the Only Zim was a big factor in the Bruins' victory.

The Yanks are certainly the Braves of the American league. They are now leading the field by a good length and are running strong.

One of the contributing factors to the Yanks' burst of glory is the speed of little Fritz Malsb. Last winter Fritz said if he could bat .300
he would steal 130 bases this season.
He got away with two yesterday and he isn't very far from his average.

Buffalo lambasted two St. Louis pitchers for seventeen hits and won hands down.

The weather man again opened his sprinkling cart on the magnates yesterday, causing postponement of six games and much gnashing of teeth.

Charley Comiskey, it is understood, is Callahan's silent partner.
Jimmy will manage the team, according to the reports.

BROTHER SHOOT BROTHER

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., May 21.—Park Monroe, aged 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Monroe, near here, is dead as a result of being shot by his nine year old brother, Ruggles. The shooting occurred after the boys were starting out after the cows. The elder brother suggested that they take a rifle along to shoot the crows. Both ran for the gun. In the tussle that followed the younger boy shot his brother in the chest.

Foreign Markets

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, May 21.—The stock market opened firm generally, although there were some evidences of a lack of confidence in the standard issues. Steel opened 1/4 off, while Missouri Pacific, Crucible Steel and Pressed Steel Car showed gains over Thursday's close.

The market became dull after the first few minutes. There was no definite tendency in prices. Crucible Steel set a new high record, going to 26 1/2, but this movement failed to influence the general market.

Stocks recovered somewhat of their losses around noon although trading was not broad enough to reflect any definite market characteristics. Steel reached 53 1/4, Westinghouse 91 1/2 and Union Pacific 124 1/4.

During the early afternoon the market was almost at a standstill and the dullness reflected the uncertainty affecting the international stocks. Rock Island was weak on stories of a heavy assessment while Crucible Steel was strong on rumors of big war orders and prospects of resumed preferred dividends.

The stock market closed dull and uninteresting.

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, May 21.—Wheat was sharply higher today on very firm cables and considerable domestic buying.

Imminence of Italy's entrance into the war was responsible in part for the advance. Prices at the opening were up 1 1/2, down 1/2 and down 1/2. At one time later prices showed advances over the opening of 2 1/2, 1 1/2 and 1 1/2.

Corn was up with wheat and on good commission house buying. At the opening prices showed overnight recessions of 1/4, 1/2 and 1/2, but very soon after prices advanced over the opening by 1/2, 1/2 and 1/2. Oats prices were firm nearly all day. Prices at the opening were up over yesterday's close by 1/2 in all futures. Later prices in May and July advanced 1/2 and 1/4 above, while September receded 1/4.

Provisions were higher on fair buying and moderate receipts.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Street Improvements
Office of the Board of Public Works, La Crosse, Wis., May 21st, 1915.

Notice is hereby given that sealed proposals will be received by the board of public works of the city of La Crosse, at their office in said city, until the 28th day of May, 1915, at 2 o'clock p. m. of said day, when said bids and proposals will be opened for furnishing of all material and doing all the work necessary and required to be done to improve the following street in the city of La Crosse, and state of Wisconsin by re-surfacing the same with asphalt macadam in accordance with plans and specifications on file in the office of the city clerk of said city, for the inspection of bidders, to-wit:

St. Andrew street from the West line of Berlin street, to the West line of Prospect street.

Work shall be commenced forthwith and the whole work shall be completed on or before the 1st day of July, 1915, failing in which, the contractors shall pay to the city of La Crosse the sum of $10.00 per day thereafter that said work remains uncompleted.

Each bidder must accompany his bid and proposal with a contract, with not less than two sureties, who shall be freeholders of the state of Wisconsin, and shall justify as to their responsibility, and by their several affidavits show that they are worth the sum of one thousand one hundred ($1,100.00) dollars in property not by law exempt from execution. Surety companies approved by the board of public works of said city will be accepted in lieu of personal sureties. Said contract with sureties must be completely executed on the part of the contract with the exception of the signature on the part of the city. (This is a positive requirement of the charter and must be complied with). Bids failing to comply with the foregoing requirements will not be considered.

Bidders must submit proposals to do the work according to the plans and specifications upon blanks furnished them by the board of public works, stating therein the price for which they propose to do the work at a lump sum price for such material and doing said entire work, as described in said plans and specifications, but no proposals will be received upon any other material than that mentioned in the specifications, and said proposals, if accepted, shall constitute a part of the contract.

N. B.—Blanks for proposals and blank contracts will be furnished on application to the city clerk, board of public works or the city engineer.

The board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

JOHN VOLLMAR,
FRED SCHNELL,
CARL HANSON,
Board of Public Works.

Audited May 20, 1915.

BEN JOHNSON THE GREATEST OF ALL
MASQUE AUTHORS

Spirit of Drama Entered Into Productions for the First Time in His Works

"THE MASQUE UNDER THE STUARTS"

(By Howard Mumford Jones).

We have come now to the flowering time of the Masque, both as drama and as poetry. Under James I this peculiar species of dramatic composition swelled to its full height associating with it the names of Daniel, Ben Jonson and Capman, and later, Carew, Milton, Inigo Jones and Henry James. The reasons for this increase in splendor lay in many regions; the influence of Italian pastoral drama, the learning of James
I, reflected in the elaborate and accurate mythology of Jonson's production, the influence of the French court with its ballets, and an Elizabethan liking for display, which lasted late. The masque, like the stage, suffered something, though not so severely, from the Puritan regime, and died away slowly with the last of the Stuarts.

The first masque produced after the accession of James, was one by Daniel, "The Vision of the Twelve Goddesses," given at Hampton
Court the 8th of January, 1604.
The twelve goddesses were Queen Anne and her eleven ladies. It is as good poetry as Daniel ever wrote;
yet we are told by the writer himself
"how large a part of the interest was absorbed by spectacle, music and dance." The outline of the work shows how tenaciously the older dance features clung to the masque:
A band of masquers disguise themselves; an explanation is given of the nature and meaning of their in-pressive entry; they dance. Then a feature later abandoned—they "lead out" spectators, lords or ladies
as needs be, and dance with them.
There is more poetry, a second dance
by the masquers, and then the exit.
The masked dance of Henry VIII
was not very different.

We come now to the greatest name among all those who wrote masques—Ben Jonson, in whose hands the form changed from that of a dance to that of true drama. Of his masques Mr. Ronald Boyne writes: "A breath of the drama gives them life. The entertainment lent itself to this semi-dramatic treatment," and using the entertainment of Elizabeth's time as a basis, he produced the "masque
which was a lengthy evening function" whether indoors or out.

I can only sketch Jonson's many changes. One of his earliest attempts was two entertainments (unnamed), one for Elizabeth, and one for Sir William Cornwallis. He wrote for Queen Anne in 1604 "The Masque of Blackness," produced at Whitehall on Twelfth Night of 1605, in which, as in Daniel's masque, the queen herself took part. A sequel to this was "The Masque of Beauty" (1608), in which Jonson is on his way to the development of the "anti-mask," which first appears in "The Masque of Queens." Jonson's conception of the masque was very high,
and from this his masques reach the pinnacle of his genius. In them "the splendor and ingenuity of the spectacle set forth some central idea,
the characters are taken mainly from classical literature, the details of their dress and equipment are all minutely accurate," or rather fitting to the idea personified. Finally,
there is a strong moral idea and ideal
in all his numerous entertainments.

"The Masque of Queens," I have said, contains an anti-masque. This is very simple in idea, and yet profoundly modifies the spirit of the work. In the masque originally, the central dances and dancers were,
the one stately, the other beautiful;
in the anti-masque, grotesque and bizarre characters dance a complementary measure. In "The Masque of Queens" twelve heroines had danced;
they were followed by twelve weirdly imagined witches, whose dance was at once comic and horrible, and whose speeches are equal to the witches' lines in Macbeth. The result of this innovation was contrast; and in contrast lies the germ of drama. The masque was no longer merely a spectacle; it became a play.

In 1612, in a masque called "Love Restored," Jonson made the further innovation of prefixing a kind of comic induction or prologue (like Christopher Sly's scene in the "Taming of the Shrew") to the masque,
but this practice, since it violates the unity of the performance, was little followed.

Whoever would know the masque
at its best should browse in a volume of Jonson. He will find there exquisite lyrics, beautiful poetry, and a love for the spectacular and the mythological, mixed with the grotesque, the weird and the comic.

Johnson and his contemporaries
would have failed of their success,
however, if they had lacked a stage mechanic to produce their effects of theatrical legere demain.

Fortunately for them there was at court one Inigo Jones, as profoundly original a producer of plays as Belasco or Frohman ever were. He constructed machines, scenery and appliances which secured the most ingenious and startling effects, and he is worth a book in himself.

Likewise there must be musicians who could set to music the numerous songs, with their accompaniment of strings and woodwind. A school of such musicians grew up, of whom Henry Lames possesses a genius for this sort of thing, and poet after poet testified in verse to his ability—among them Milton.

Satisfaction

We surely must be giving satisfaction, for when a man gets a suit from us, his brother, father or son orders one also.

That has happened a number of times since we opened for business in March.

They would not recommend us if they were not satisfied. Let us satisfy you with a new suit mention of other masque writers.

Thomas Campion is noted for his
"Lords' Masque," George Chapman,
the translator of Homer, is next of merit, and after him, Francis Beaumont of fame on the "legitimate" stage.

"Comus" was the last great masque. It was produced at Ludlow Castle in 1634. In Comus the dancing is subordinated to the poetry, and there is no "disguising." A high moral purpose runs through it;
Milton made of it a tract on chastity, and therefore less of a masque. The fact is significant; the Puritan tide was rising higher and higher; in 1642 was passed the act suppressing the theaters. The nation was rushing into civil war. Though the Carolinian poets—notably Carew—
wrote masques, they did not advance
the form; the taste of the court was French—French wit, French comedy, French ballets; the masque expired
with the Elizabethan spirit in poetry.

MOB SUPPLICATES VILLA

WASHINGTON, May 21.—General
Villa was almost mobbed by throngs of men, women and children begging
for food when he arrived at Torreon on his way to Chihuahua to bury his brother Antonio. His troops had to beat the crowd back from the train.
According to the Carranzista journal
here, several Carranzista victories over the Villista were claimed and in one of them it was said General
Hernandez was killed and General
Reiss was wounded.

FRECKLE-FACE

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots.
How to Remove Easily

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable dealer that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion
the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of othine—
double strength—from O. T. Erhart or any druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles
and get a beautiful complexion.
Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine as this is the prescription sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.
